

IIM Rohtak commences first batch of ePGPx and eFPM for Executives

IIM Rohtak added one more feather to its cap by inducting first batches of two new programmes specially designed for the working executives. The Executive Doctoral Programme in Management which is referred to as the Executive Fellow Programme in Management is a non – residential fellow programme which aims at developing high quality researchers, policy makers, and practice-based academics. The sessions for the first batch of eFPM consisting of 25 students, commenced on 15th June '18. The average professional experience of the batch is 15 years.

The other program initiated this year is the one year Post Graduate Programme for Executives (ePGPx). This programme aims at providing working executives an opportunity to build on their practical knowledge by learning latest management concepts, tools and models. The program will cover various aspects of financial management, marketing management, operations management, accounts, human resource management and information management systems. The program is offered through a combination of online and off-line learning. The program is an intensive program geared to offer managers an edge over the others by providing them ability to get superior results through expedient and judicious decision-making. 60 executives from varied industries such as Information Technology, Manufacturing, Financial Services, and Consulting have joined the program. They have an average work experience of 9 years. Classes for ePGPx batch started on 18th June 2018.

On the occasion of commencement of the programme, Director IIM Rohtak, Prof. Dheeraj Sharma said “IIM Rohtak is committed to offering academic programs to working professionals so that they can further improve their performance outcomes as a result of which the industry will benefit from the increased productivity of the managers. These new programs are executive education programs that will augment academe-industry interactions which will strengthen IIM Rohtak’s status as a center for excellence in management domain.”

Connect us through:

