

News > Business > Industry

Industry 4.0: Upskilling, cross-skilling would be important factor in all sectors, say experts

Industry

Updated Oct 28, 2018 | 20:47 IST | PTI

Industry 4.0 and its impact took centre stage at a management summit held Saturday at the Indian Institute of Management (IIM), Rohtak where experts from the core industry shared their thoughts.

Representative image | Photo Credit: Thinkstock

New Delhi: The Fourth Industrial Revolution is replacing the "inefficiencies" of traditional businesses with disruptive technologies and thus upskilling and cross-skilling of employees would be an important component in all sectors, according to experts. Industry 4.0 and its impact took centre stage at a management summit held Saturday at the Indian Institute of Management (IIM), Rohtak where experts from the core industry and other sectors discussed and deliberated on the subject.

Emphasising on the changing business landscape, Dheeraj Sharma, the director of IIM Rohtak said, "In view of the increased use of cyber systems, it is important that we develop a strong culture of cyber-security and cyber-immersion in our institutions." "In order to do so, we need to develop a stronger campaign to echo the significance of security training, safety of online transactions, responsible social networking and ethical data mining," he said.

Industry 4.0 refers to various digital technologies, automation and data exchange techniques, which can contribute to creating cyber-physical systems thus revolutionising the process of industrial production. The experts also discussed how businesses are approaching their inefficiencies with disruptive technologies like IoT (Internet of Things) and big data. The Internet of Things (IoT) is an ecosystem of connected physical objects that are accessible through the Internet.

"The Fourth Industrial Revolution is replacing the inefficiencies of traditional businesses with disruptive technologies like IoT, cloud computing and big data to name a few. The digital wave has its impact on every sector of the economy and promises to revolutionise manufacturing, supply chain, distribution, and retail," IIM-Rohtak said in a statement.

The pace of change today is immense and to stay relevant businesses are required to make information and data an integral part of their business model, it said.

COVID-19 Doesn't Scare Them as Much as Starving

The Akshaya Patra Foundation | Sponsored

Read Next Story >

the aviation sector perspective.

As we see today will vanish in a couple of years. The pace of change is day; this pace is an essential NCR-IIM-SKILLING part of Industry 4.0."

He also participated in the summit and spoke about I in industry 4.0, we are moving towards a phase in manufacturing where

Tax Planning
RBI Savi
Fixed Deposit Calculator
National Pension Scheme

VIDEOS

Future Of Jobs In India / Crisis

Does India have an exit India Development Deb

Is there fresh hope for IF spectators? | India Deve

Are COVID private hospi pandemic? | The Newsh

Migrant living in a ceme days with his two kids & challenged friend

You News Assistant

reduce wastage. We at Boeing are exploring smart technologies on a regular basis to make better and smaller aircraft," he was quoted as saying in the statement.

The leaders from different sectors agreed that data today is indeed a "strategic asset" and stressed on the increasing need for skilled personnel". Upskilling and cross-skilling of employees thus will be an essential function in every sector, be it logistics, manufacturing, real estate or services, the experts said.

If I Die, My Old Parents Will Be Left Alone. Please Save Me

Ketto | Sponsored

COVID-19 Doesn't Scare Them as Much as Starving

The Akshaya Patra Foundation | Sponsored

MS in computer science at INR 3,75,000 | Online

upGrad | Sponsored

I've Already Lost A Son. Please Don't Let Me Be Childless

Ketto | Sponsored

PGD in blockchain at INR 2,25,000 | Online

upGrad | Sponsored

Infinite Access To Favorite Your Netflix Titles With VPN

TheTopFiveVPN | Sponsored

Experts Say Practising Mocks is An Important Preparation Strategy

Gradeup | Sponsored

Help Labor Families Survive The Crisis

DonateKart.com | Sponsored

Look Closer... Rare Historical Discoveries Not Suitable For All Viewers

Articles Vally | Sponsored

Born Between 1965-1985? Get Term Life Insurance Worth ₹1 Cr at Rs.1884/month*.

Term Plans -Compare & Buy Now! | Sponsored

Donate a Grocery Kit to Feed a Laborer's Family

DonateKart.com | Sponsored

This Rs.1999/yr app, gives access to over 5000 magazine n papers. Buy Subscription!

Magzter | Sponsored

The Funniest Pictures Of Tall People, revealed

Tip Parents | Sponsored

Please Save Me

Ketto

Girl raped twice by fat lockdown while mother

COVID-19 Doesn't Scare Starving

The Akshaya Patra Foundation

'Get ready to burn and Mohammed Shami's w shares bold video on Ir

MS in computer science Online

upGrad

Can you travel to another lockdown 4.0? Here are guidelines for you

Infinite Access To Favorite Titles With VPN

TheTopFiveVPN

Don't know when my son his father Shoaib Malik

JUST IN

COVID-19: 50% patients taste and smell

GWM India finalises top President & MD

Maharashtra CM Uddha' lockdown extension

'Depressed' professor ei son to death

Bombay HC seeks report over migrants issue

COVID-19 Doesn't Scare Them as Much as Starving

The Akshaya Patra Foundation | Sponsored

Read Next Story >

News Assistant

